What is Pet Companion Aftercare? Pet Aftercare Options?

After your pet has passed away the process of physically looking after the body and handling the remains is termed aftercare. Being able to honor your loved one and memorialize them is an important part of the grieving process. Pet owners can say farewell and remember all the years and times together and cherish the fond memories. Knowing that the physical remains of your pet have been treated lovingly and respectfully provides great comfort and peace. Aftercare decisions vary between people based upon many factors. Each owner has their own unique emotional needs and preferences. Saying goodbye is a personal decision. Choice of aftercare provider is a Pet Parent/ Family decision... not a veterinary hospital.
